Energy affordability a significant issue for customers in the Central West of NSW

According to the Energy & Water Ombudsman NSW's (EWON) 2016/2017 Annual Report released today, affordability issues factored in 26% of complaints received from the State's Central West region*, compared to 21% for NSW as a whole.

"Affordability issues, payment difficulties, high bills, increasing debt and disconnection of supply have become the norm for NSW consumers experiencing financial vulnerability which is evident in the Central West region," Energy & Water Ombudsman NSW, Janine Young, said.

"The array of energy offers makes it difficult for customers to find the best deal. Customers on low or fixed incomes in particular, continue to tell us they were not able to take advantage of discounted offers because of compulsory pay-on-time or direct debit conditions. It is promising to see that retailers are now starting to address this," said Ms Young.

Average complaints per 10,000 people in the region were also high at 45, well above the NSW average of 34.

Despite this, complaints to EWON from the Central West region fell for the third year in a row, down 9% in 2016/17 to 855 from 944 in 2015/2016. Between 2014/2015 and 2015/2016 complaints from the region fell 19%, following a 23% decrease in 2014/2015, from the high of 1,511 complaints in 2013/2014.

This is consistent with the complaint trend for NSW overall, where the 1% decrease in complaints to EWON in 2016/2017 for NSW is much less pronounced than the 22% fall reported in 2015/2016 and the 19% decrease in 2014/2015.

However, in contrast to the Central West, complaints for NSW as a whole trended upwards during the period.

“While our complaints for NSW overall fell marginally, they steadily rose throughout 2016/2017 and continue to increase. We received 21% more complaints in the April to June quarter than we did in the same period in the previous financial year, establishing a strong upward trend” Ms Young explained.

The top three complaint issues customers raised with EWON in the Central West region were about billing, customer service and credit, consistent with NSW as a whole.
